

ALEX SCOTT MBE: PROFESSIONAL FOOTBALLER, PUNDIT, PRESENTER

Photo: www.thefa.com. Text from: www.mcsaatchimerlin.com/talent/alex-scott-mbe

"This is much deserved recognition for Alex for her outstanding commitment to women's football." Sir Chips Keswick, Chairman Arsenal Football Club

"Scott was appointed an MBE in the 2017 New Year Honours for services to football."

The former Arsenal Captain and England Centurion, Alex Scott was born in Poplar, East London and has an Irish mother and Jamaican father. She signed with Arsenal in 1992 at the age of eight.

Since her retirement in 2018, Alex has begun a successful broadcasting career and has quickly become renown for her insights and sharp punditry skills. She is part of BBC Sport's football broadcasting team and co-host of Sky Sports' Goals on Sunday. Alex made history as the first female Sky Pundit on a Sky Sports' Super Sunday and as the first female to commentate for the BBC for a Men's World Cup.

Alex is heavily involved in charitable projects, working with Premier League Communities and launching the Sky Ocean Rescue and Premier League Plastic Pollution Challenge.

Alex opened The Alex Scott Academy in 2012 in partnership with Kingston College and Puma. This is an academy system for women that focuses on training and working towards qualifications, providing players with an unrivalled calibre of training, skill development and match play all while promoting excellence in the class room as well.

Alex was appointed an MBE in the 2017 New Year Honours for services to football.